

Photographic Permission Slip

Learning Journals/Nursery Displays

- During your child's time with us, in order to record your child's development and progression, we would like to use photographs of your child engaged in play.
- These photographs may be of individual children or in group situations, which will include other children and adults. Photographs, alongside observations and planning, are used as evidence of learning and to support the children, through displays, within the nursery environment.
- There may be occasions when your child's image appears in a photograph that may be included in another child's learning Journal, for example if they have been engaged in a group activity. Should you object to this please let your child's key person know or indicate your objection on the photographic permission slip by deleting the relevant section.

Training and Marketing

- There may also be occasions when we may want to use a photograph in materials other than the child's learning journal or as part of a display.
- This may include being used within a PowerPoint presentation and handout, to illustrate for example best practice or a particular development stage of a child, used for delivering training to early year's practitioners.
- For marketing purposes, for example to illustrate parent prospectus or marketing information for the Nursery website
- As a photograph on Riverside Nursery Twitter, Facebook and Instagram page
- Any photographs that we use will always be shared with parents before they are placed in publications or on the website
- In all the above circumstances no personal information about the child is ever used.

Permission slips are reviewed regularly with parents during your time at the nursery and you can change your mind about which permissions you give at any time by speaking to your key person or the Nursery Manager
